WORTH REPEATING

"The excess profits tax is not only a burden, it's a bad tax and so considered by nearly all the tax experts in the country. In fact the last administration said it was a bad tax. And it should be eliminated because it destroys incentive of American industry—especially small corporations—who must grow out of their increased profits."

William J. Grede, NAM board chairman.

"It looks as if more and more farmers are realizing that government should not and cannot be a source of endless largesse. And certain important segments of agriculture, it is a pleasure to report, want no part of either bureaucratic domination or coddling."

—St. Johnsbury (Vt.) Caledonian Record.

"Those who dig deeply into the statistics of prosperity are showing a growing concern about the relatively small amount of venture capital that is going into new, small enterprises. Inflation has tended to obscure this fact because it has caused some $20 to $30 billion to be invested annually in new plants and equipment. But about four-fifths has been required to replace the rising capital values currently used up."

—Hartford (Conn.) Courant.

"Now Englanders by and large are not socialistic; they still have a lingering pride in padding their own canoe." Portland (Maine) Express.

Grade 6 Visits Mineral Store

Tuesday afternoon the pupils of Miss Varner's sixth grade room at the Crescent Park School went to Perham's Mineral Store at Trap Corner to learn about Maine minerals. Several children took samples which they had found to be identified. One important fact learned was that 90% of the world's minerals can be found in the State of Maine, most of them can be found in Oxford County. They were shown how a quartz crystal is cut and polished. Then it was given to Miss Varner to put in a collection. Each pupil was given a piece of rose quartz. We are hoping to create an interest in the mineral and gem resources of this area. The pupils wish to thank all those who helped to make the trip so pleasant and interesting.

Those going on Tuesday: Kenneth Roberts, Paul Kimball, Albert Rugg, Lucy Leighton, Russell Millott, Julia Reynolds, Nancy Hinkley, Richard Mason, Gertrude Walker, Ruth Willard, Margaret Noyes, Richard Silmans, Eleanor Lord, Camella Whitman, Diane Pease, Norma Korhonen, Harriet Kneeland, Mrs. Elizabeth Lord, Mrs. Lina Reynolds, Mrs. Naomi Varner, Miss Helen Varner.

I am the light of the world; he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life. (John 8:12.) Read John 1:9-14.

ONE of the persons most active and helpful in the work of distributing the Bible in Mexico is a woman who has been blind since childhood. The secretary of the Bible Society once asked her if she could remember seeing the light of the sun before she became blind. She replied: "I don't remember the light of the sun, but I remember very well the moment in which the light of Christ entered my heart and dispelled all the darkness of sin."

This is the most striking testimony of the reality of the words of Christ: "He that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life."

Watch therefore, for ye know neither the day nor the hour wherein the Son of man cometh. (St. Matthew 25, 13.)

If each of us were to know the exact moment which would be his last upon this earth, then we might say, "Well, in that hour of that last day, I shall prepare myself to meet God." But, as Christ Jesus has said, we know not... the next moment might be our last—too late for redemption. Why, then, does anyone neglect the present moment of salvation?

shall have the light of life. The darkness of physical blindness, though pitiable and tragic, is not so great compared with the darkness of sin.

Thanks be to God who has not left us lost and abandoned in the midst of darkness. He has sent Christ, our Saviour, to us. If we turn to Him, we learn for ourselves that He is "the light of the world."

Prayer

Our heavenly Father, out of grateful hearts we thank Thee for Christ. In the midst of the darkness of this world, we turn to Him and find our paths made bright, our spirits filled with hope. Help us to follow Him this day. In His name, Amen.

Rev. Robert H. Harper
Principal of Christian Stewardship
Lecture for June 7-11 Corinthisians 9:1-11
Golden Text II Corinthisians 9:7

Before setting forth the principles of Christian stewardship, Paul commends the Corinthisians for their generosity previously shown, and he urged them to continue in their giving. Paul was engaged in securing an offering from different churches for the poor saints in Jerusalem, and he was anxious that the Corinthisians should have their full share in that work of generosity.

Christian stewardship depends upon the recognition of the fact that all men have come from God, and that it is committed to them, as a sacred trust. Stewardship is a higher law than that of the tithe. For it requires that men shall give all that they can to God's service. They are to give all they can—in money, time, and talents. And every gift should be accompanied by thanksgiving to God for his goodness.

Paul lays down what may be termed principles of Christian stewardship and they may well be followed today. First of all, men should give liberally, that they may reap bountifully. And they should be cheerful givers, not "grudgingly," for God loves a cheerful giver. So let us give in such way that we shall find joy in the giving. And what we give will then minister unto our happiness while it supplies the needs of others.

I TOOK the oldest boy fishing. All afternoon we sat on the bank with a group of other fishermen and I gave the ungrateful little demon all the advice accumulated in years of fishing.

"If you'll just leave the kid alone," says one, "he'll learn."

"Nonsense," says I. And I proceeded with my hours of instructions. The net catch up to this time was zero.

"Pop," says the boy, "if I floated one of these minnows down over that riffle I betcha I'd hook me a big bass."

"Who ever heard of such a thing," says I.

"Please," he persists.

"All right," says I, "but be sure to stay out of the deep water."

Two minutes later I heard his frantic shouts. "I've got a big one!"

"All of two inches," says I to the other fishermen and started slowly up the creek to the riffle.

Just then the bass jumped. One look was enough. I took off like a rocket.

By the time I got there the boy had him on the bank. A fat four pounds of fighting fish.

"It just takes experience," one of the fishermen shouted. Then the idiot cast on the bank shouting and laughing like they didn't have good sense.

BALANCED FEDERAL BUDGET MAY AFFECT LOCAL PROJECTS

Individual communities and sections should refrain from pressing Congress to reject contemplated cuts in federal expenditures, Kenneth R. Miller, Senior Vice President of the National Association of Manufacturers said this week during talks he made in New England before industrialists.

Too often, he said, individual cities and states are in favor of reduction in federal government spending only if it affects some other city or some other state.

Mr. Miller said the NAM is in favor of a balanced budget and simultaneous repeals of both the excess profits tax on corporations and the Korea war boom on personal incomes.

He said repeal of the excess profits tax is needed to give small industry the capital needed to provide jobs for an expanding population.

HAPPY HERDSMEN MEET

On June 3, 1953, the Happy Herdsmen met at the Legion Rooms. The meeting was called to order by President Jane Smith. There were eleven members present. We gave the 4-H Pledge, and the Pledge to the Flag. Our leader, Harold Bennett gave out entry cards for Windsor Fair. The recreation committee appointed for next week was Nancy Davis and Florence Merrill. It was moved and seconded to adjourn the meeting.

Before the meeting we went to Bobby Chadbourne's barn and saw his baby beef. Then we went to see Eleanor Lord's dairy cattle. Betsy Chapman, Secretary.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Have some other member of the family take some of the pictures in your garden scenes—so that you can be in them. General views like this can be snapped in black-and-white or color with the simplest of cameras.

Your Hobby and Your Camera Are a Good Combination

CAMERAS are wonderful things in many different ways. One of these is in connection with hobbies. Many people make their cameras a hobby in themselves, devoting leisure hours to fun with photography. Many other people have found that they can use their cameras in connection with other hobbies and increase their enjoyment of a wide variety of activities.

At this time of year these hobbyists whose major interest is in gardening are enjoying themselves tremendously. Summer is definitely here and the gardeners are in their glory. But every plant, no matter how beautiful or how perfect a specimen it is, has just so long to live.

Many of them are well worth remembering. After all, hours of labor went into their growing. That's one reason why a picture record of gardening achievement can be so highly satisfactory. You can use any film you wish, but now that there is color film available for even the simplest of cameras, you use it to your garden to see it just as it grows.

First a photograph can be as easy or as complicated as you wish to make it. There are types of pictures you can make with any equipment. Others require cameras that are equipped for taking pictures at close range. For extreme close-ups, such as pictures of single flowers, you need accessory lenses for any camera.

For general garden views, you can use the simplest of cameras. All you have to do is find a pleasant picture in the viewfinder and snap it. As you move in closer, to feature limited areas of the garden, you will need a close-up attachment for your box type camera. There's no trick to using this little, inexpensive accessory and you can get as close as 3 1/2 feet to your subject. Many of the adjustable cameras allow you to shoot that close, or even closer without additional lenses.

If you do want to try the extreme close-ups mentioned above, you'll need to add extra lenses to your adjustable camera. Check with your photo-dealer for specific advice on this type of picture taking.

EASY DOES IT

LIGHTEN cakes result when you fold egg whites into the batter, using an up and down and over motion. Do not work the egg whites in too thoroughly.

It's easy to get cakes to bake perfectly flat on top if you spread the batter around the sides of the pan first, and then let the batter fill the middle.

Never wash the flour after in soapy water. The soap sticks to the meshes and is difficult to remove. Use baking soda in the washing water and a utility or vegetable brush.

Never shake flour into a cup when measuring it. Fill the flour before measuring then spoon lightly into a cup and level off the top with a knife or spatula.

For a welcome change in your next cake pie, pour a layer of

- THIS WEEK'S RECIPE
Vegetable Casserole (Serves 4-6)
- 4 cups sliced, cooked carrots
 - 1/2 cup top milk
 - 4 tablespoons melted butter
 - 1/2 cup chopped ripe olives
 - 1/2 cup chopped green sweet pepper
 - 1/2 cup chopped onion
 - Salt and pepper
 - 1/2 cup grated American cheese
- Combine carrots, milk, butter, olives, green pepper, onion, salt and pepper to taste in a baking dish. Sprinkle cheese over top. Bake in a hot oven for 15 to 20 minutes or until vegetables are heated through and cheese is melted.

merge syrup into the bottom of the pan over the unbaked pie crust before adding custard, then bake as usual.

Glazed sweet rolls are attractive. Add a little sugar to the egg white for glazing if you want a sweet and shiny toping.

To separate eggs, have them as cold as possible. This shells both the yolk and white and makes them easy to separate.

If you have egg yolks to save never wash with cold water and they will keep perfectly for several days.

To eat very fresh cake or bread in this effect, place the dish which you're going to use in very hot water for several minutes, then dry and use at once.

Baking, dyes and other dried fruits will not stick to the food chopper so readily if you dry the chopper in hot water before using.

The LOW DOWN FROM HICKORY GROVE

I put in my ear today on the side of the ones in this land who are fed-up and weary of our long distance far-away type of Govt., where a fellow swings around in his chair there in Old Swivel-chair, town on the Potomac and says what we gotta do here in Hickory or in Savannah, Ga., or Deadwood, So. Dakota, if we are to get a handout from Uncle Sam. And this gent making the big decision has most likely never been in Hickory or Savannah or Deadwood—or knows beans about what we need, don't want or do want.

So now, what. The real job is up to the nation's editors—it is their task to show their subscribers, lunch club speakers and such that Uncle Samuel's money now being dispensed so lavish-like is not a gift. This dinero is charged to your account and my account—it was once ours until the tax man lifted it. Calling it a gift is bosh.

Here in our little County the welfare expense per year is 4 mil-

TIME TO CONTROL YELLOW ROCKET WEED

Yellow rocket weed is showing its blossoms conspicuously through most of Maine now. It has spread rapidly through Maine in recent years. It should be prevented from going to seed by hand pulling or use of a spud, spot spraying with 2,4-D or MCP, mowing now and again in two weeks, or putting it in the silo.

"How to Grow Kennebec" is the title of Maine Extension Circular 273. It gives suggestions Maine potato growers have made for raising this popular variety. It's free from county agents or the Agricultural Extension Service, University of Maine, Orono.

We have been slickered and happy all at the same time. As wizards we have not been a super superior howling success. You might even say we've been vice versa, or almost.

BROWNIE TROOPS 4 AND 5 ENJOY PLAY DAY

A Brownie Play Day for Troops 4 and 5, planned by the leaders and troop committees, was held Wednesday, May 27, after school. The Brownies assembled at the home of Mrs. Robert Keniston where they divided into two groups for a "dog and rabbit" chase. The "rabbits" were captured by the "dogs" at the Crescent grounds.

Leaving Crescent Park, the Brownies practiced marching for Memorial Day until they again arrived at the Keniston home, where play continued and supper was served around the outdoor fireplace.

This Play Day was planned to compensate for a Brownie Field day held this spring at Norway, which the Bethel Brownies had to forego because of the scarlet fever epidemic.

GOULD ACADEMY

The annual Lettermen's Banquet, held for the 46 boys of the school who have won their awards this year, took place in the school dining room on Thursday, May 28.

Present were the coaches of the various sports, Mr. Anderson, Mr. Bowhay, Mr. Fossett, Mr. Hillier, Mr. Kelley, Mr. Scott and guests Mr. Myers, Mr. Vachon, Dr. Lloyd Lux of the Physical Education department of Bates College, Murray Thurston, representative of the Alumni Association of the School Athletic Council and Leslie Davis, representative of the Board of Trustees on the Athletic.

Headmaster Elwood F. Ireland, as master of ceremonies, reviewed the sports program at Gould, stressing those qualities which develop in the program. He pointed out especially the development in boys of courage, coordination, cooperation and strength and leadership which are brought forth in the competitive action of athletic teams.

The principal address by Dr. Lloyd H. Lux pointed out the numerous uncertainties that must be faced in the world today. Incidents such as making the grade in school, rivaling proper friends, improving the community in which one lives paying the way for success in life, all of which must be made by strong determination on the part of the individual to face the realities and not try to seek refuge by running away from them.

Dr. Lux singled out individuals such as Steinmetz, Helen Keller, Einstein, who had to face almost unsurmountable obstacles and had possessed the determination that carried them on to a successful life.

Dr. Lux stressed the importance of sports as a means by which one may cultivate a determination that will enable one to meet successfully the problems of life.

The 11th annual Camera Club Exhibit which commences June 5 in Room 105 in Hanson Hall offers to those interested in the field of photography an unusual collection of camera shots.

In previous years, the most outstanding photographs taken by members of the Gould Academy Camera Club during the school months were shown. In addition to these prize photos, those prints considered the most pleasing by the judges of a previous contest and which have been developed within the past ten years are to be displayed this spring. Dr. Thompson, Lawrence Lord, and Donald Brown acted as judges for the print contest. The sixty photographs which received the highest scoring by these art enthusiasts will appear in the exhibition.

The print which was rated the highest by the judges was designed Martin Hovey, Jr. The picture consists of a train moving at full speed through the snowdrifts at the Bethel station. Some other themes employed by the artists are: certain phases of dorm life, skiing, jumping, portraits, still-life, and unusual views of the Gould buildings.

The final week of school finds only the varsity nine in action. On Monday, Fryeburg Academy will be at Bethel for a game scheduled for 4 p. m. This will wind up the schoolboy games. However, Gould will meet the Alumni on Saturday in the annual Alumni Day game, one of the features of the graduation week end.

Gould Academy easily retained its County crown by defeating Mexico and Fryeburg in the annual County track and field meet. Stephens High of Rumford preferred not to enter the meet this year which left only three schools competing. Gould with 94½ points proved too strong for Mexico and Fryeburg who could gather only 27 and 21½ points respectively.

Frank Linnell with 24 points led the field, with Erwin Bacon second, gathering 19. Beedy of Mexico made 11 points, while Payne of Fryeburg and Hastings of Gould tied with 10 points each. Payne won both the 880 and the mile. Gould took first place in 10 of the 15 events. Fryeburg won two firsts and the Pintos only one. Mexico however, placed in nine of the 15 events while Fryeburg scored in five.

Saturday the Husky team will travel to Waterville for the State Meet. The team is hoping for a good showing as next year's team will be greatly weakened by graduation. In the County Meet 68 of Gould's 94½ points were won by graduating seniors.
